Supporting Your Student Through Academic Planning & Course Registration

Tulane Parent Webinar

May 30, 2023

Newcomb-Tulane
College

Purpose of this webinar

Designed especially for parents of new first year students, this parent webinar will provide tips and tricks to help you support your student as they prepare for the fall 2023 course registration process during June.

NTC College Advising will review the structure of academics, advising and other support services at Tulane. The presenters will explain how your student can prepare for their appointment, weigh academic options, and build a strong first semester schedule.

The presenters will share advice for supporting your student as they become responsible for their academic planning and progress at Tulane.

How you can support your student

- Help your student reflect on what classes they will enjoy and what they will excel in.
- Help student research majors/minors prior to appointments.
- Have conversations with your student about academic plans that may require additional time or expense. (e.g. summer school ideas, study abroad, etc.)
- Remind your students to be patient & flexible.
- Manage their expectations & encourage them to seek help from advisors when they feel stuck
